IT LeasingTeam is a Polish staffing agency placing everyone from executives to IT professionals, with HR, payroll, and IT services on top. Its 200 hybrid users rely on recruitment platforms and custom apps running across 180 workstations and 15 servers. Then ransomware hit, and the legacy antivirus didn't react until files were already encrypted. "We were hit by a cryptographic attack and noticed that our previous antivirus waited until after our files were encrypted before classifying it as a virus," says Łukasz Dąbrowski, System Administrator. Unsure which machines were infected, the team reinstalled nearly 150 workstations.

IT LeasingTeam tested replacements against the same crypto virus, and ThreatDown stopped it before encryption. "ThreatDown was the first solution we tested that actually found and neutralized the crypto virus we'd been hit by—before it could start encrypting," Łukasz says.

Since deployment, there hasn't been another serious incident. The team estimates a 99% drop in security incidents, and security support tickets have fallen from about 150 a year to just a few. Integrated patch management let them retire their WSUS server entirely, and the latest security audit flagged zero endpoint issues. All told, the team gets back at least five hours a week.

A year in, IT LeasingTeam added ThreatDown MDR for 24/7 coverage. ThreatDown analysts now triage events, contain threats, and escalate only when needed, so the internal team is no longer first on the line after hours. "The ThreatDown MDR service not only saves us time, it gives us peace of mind during our time off. We know that someone is watching and will act if there's a problem," Łukasz says.

If your IT team is tired of being first on the line too, ThreatDown can provide 24/7 expert-led protection without the cost or complexity of building a security team in-house.

We saw right away that ThreatDown's ransomware protection was different. It detected the crypto virus in real time and neutralized it before it could do any harm. That's the reason we chose it.
